

“What We Don’t Know Yet: Current and Future Directions for Police Training Research”

Dr. Chris Giacomantonio,
Research Director, Halifax Regional Police Service

Dr. Giacomantonio has been the Halifax Regional Police Research Coordinator since 2016. His role is to improve decision-making through the strategic use of research evidence and the promotion of research literacy. He is also the Atlantic Regional Coordinator for the Canadian Society of Evidence-Based Policing and acts as a point of contact for academics and other researchers. Prior to joining Halifax Regional Police, Chris worked as a Senior Analyst with the European offices of the RAND Corporation, where he conducted research for the UK College of Policing, Association of Chief Police Officers, Ministry of Justice, Department of Health and European Commission. Chris holds a Ph.D. in criminology from the University of Oxford, and currently holds adjunct faculty positions at Saint Mary's University and Dalhousie University.
